About Me

I am Wondmagegn Merkeb Beleka, a Computer Science graduate from Wachemo University with expertise in full-stack web development. I specialize in building scalable, responsive applications using modern technologies including React, Angular, Node.js, and various database systems. My technical proficiency extends across the entire development lifecycle, from frontend user interface design to backend API development and database optimization. With hands-on experience in system troubleshooting, network management, and IT operations, I bring a comprehensive technical perspective to every project. I am recognized for my ability to quickly adapt to new technologies, strong problem-solving capabilities, and collaborative approach to working with cross-functional teams. I am passionate about creating efficient, maintainable code and continuously expanding my knowledge in emerging technologies to deliver cutting-edge solutions.
